The Astwood electric stove takes form of a traditionally styled stove to bring that warmth and charm into your home, with the convenience of being electric.

Constructed from high quality yet lightweight steel, this stove is finished in a traditional black powder-coat finish for durability.

Offering a choice of 1 and 2Kw heat output along with a no heat setting where you can just appreciate the relaxing flame effect, making it perfect for warmer evenings when just the atmosphere is flickering flames would be welcome.

The incredibly realistic flame projection has 4 flame settings – high flame, medium flame, low flame and glowing embers. Our flame projection technology creates flames in the front, middle and back of the firebed which with the addition of being able to alter the flame effect colours, gives greater ambience and realism. The crystal embers and ceramic logs provide a natural, realistic look to the stove.

The stove can be controlled from the unit itself or from the 7 day programmable intelligent remote which is supplied as standard. The stove can be programmed to come on automatically at different times of the day and the week and can be thermostatically controlled.

It can also be operated via the ACR Stoves app from where the choice of flame effect colours is also limitless.
